IT, Sports & Entertainment Law Practice

The IT, Sports & Entertainment practice is ONTIER's most recent area. It was created as a response to the substantial importance that technology is currently gaining in our society and to provide clients with ongoing legal advice on both the practical and regulatory issues revolving around this innovative area of the law.

ONTIER has advised on many significant matters within this area, both at a national and international level. Our advice has included: GDPR adaptation, software licensing, exploitation of audiovisual rights in the sports industry, the drafting of guidelines regarding the creation of a regulatory framework for eSports and legal advice for startups and protection of Intellectual Property Rights, among others.

What we Offer

ONTIER puts its 25-member international team and startups subdivision to all GSIC partners' disposition to provide them with innovative and business-oriented solutions that adjust to the strict requirements of any jurisdictions of interest.

All GSIC members are granted with five (5) free hours per year to make up to five consultations on any legal matter that deem significant for their project. The scope of consultations also includes: Legal consultations and/or revision of contracts.

Matters regarding the drafting of agreements, company registration and/or M&A transactions are excluded from the hour bag. Nevertheless, all GSIC partners are granted with a 20% discount on any matter that falls outside the scope of the hour bag as to optimise potential and ensure rapid and prosperous development of all partners.
